

Poppy's Space Adventure

An InkTales adventure

For Poppy, our little star. Keep exploring!

With love, Grandma Grandad

Poppy pulled on her space boots. Tonight, she was going to the Moon!

Through the door was a world of space! Everything shimmered, and a voice called Poppy's name.

"We need someone who loves dinosaurs," said a tiny guide. Poppy grinned. That was exactly her favourite thing.

The path wobbled and twisted. Biscuit the dog held on tight as Poppy led the way, one careful step at a time.

Soon they found a friend who was stuck and sad. Poppy remembered something important about kindness.

Together they worked out a clever plan, and it was Poppy's idea that made it work.

Everyone cheered! The whole world of space sparkled brighter than before.

Back in bed in Manchester, Poppy smiled. Tomorrow could be another adventure. The end.

The End
